The majority of PDI's suppliers are located in Canada (98%), the remaining are located in the United States and Europe.

3. Steps Taken to Prevent and Reduce the Risks of Forced Labour and Child Labour

Priestly Demolition Inc. is dedicated to maintaining a supply chain free of forced labor and child labor. Through rigorous compliance measures, continuous improvement, and transparent reporting, we aim to uphold the highest ethical standards in all our operations. Our commitment to ethical practices is further reinforced by our unionized workforce, which adheres to strict labor codes ensuring fair treatment and safe working conditions. Additionally, we ensure that our international procurement of heavy equipment from Europe and the United States complies with our ethical standards and anti-slavery policies. We remain committed to protecting human rights and ensuring ethical practices throughout our supply chain.

PDI has undertaken the following steps to prevent and reduce the risks of forced labour and child labour in its activities and supply chain:

- Supplier Relationships. PDI has established long-term relationships with suppliers committed to ethical practices.

- Supply Chain Mapping. Subsequent to Fiscal 2026, PDI conducted a detailed mapping of our supply chain, identifying all suppliers and subcontractors involved in our operations. We classified suppliers based on risk factors such as geographic location and industry.

4. Policies and Processes Relating to Forced Labour and Child Labour

PDI communicates its values and expectations through its organizational and governance policies. PDI sets a high bar for itself and its suppliers. PDI does not tolerate any forms of forced labour or child labour and we make every effort to prevent our activities from having a negative impact on human rights. PDI's relevant policies include the following:

New employees at Priestly Demolition Inc. undergo an orientation program led by the People Success and Health & Safety teams to ensure they start their careers successfully. They receive electronic access to the Employee Handbook on our fully accessible Employee portal, which covers PDI policies, reporting processes, code of conduct, and ethical business practices, all compliant with applicable laws. The handbook applies to all Priestly Group units, includes location-specific rules when necessary, and requires all employees to review and follow its terms. PDI ensures that policies are clearly communicated, easily accessible, and continuously reviewed by management.

Due Diligence Processes

PDI has not implemented any specific policies, governance or due diligence processes in relation to the use of forced labor or child labor in our supply chains, other than as identified above.

5. Risk Assessment and Monitoring

PDI has not started the process of identifying parts of our activities and supply chains that carry a risk of forced labour or child labour. However, a large portion of our employees are unionized (as noted above) which PDI believes mitigates the risk of forced labour or child labour within PDI's operations as our unionized workforce adheres to strict labor codes ensuring fair treatment and safe working conditions.

6. Remediation Measures

In Fiscal 2025, no incidents of forced labour or child labour were reported or identified in PDI's activities or supply chain. As a result, remediation measures were not required to correct any forced labour or child labour, or to compensation the loss of income to the most vulnerable families as a result of remediation measures.

7. Training

PDI does not currently provide training to employees on forced labour and/or child labour. However, when PDI onboards employees, they are provided with employee handbook training as discussed in section 4 above.

8. Effectiveness Assessment

PDI does not currently have policies or processes in place to assess our effectiveness in ensuring that forced labour and child labour are not being used in PDI's activities and supply chains.

9. Approval and Attestation

This Report was approved by PDI's Board of Directors on May 1, 2026 pursuant to paragraph 11(4)(a) of the Act and has been submitted to the Minister of Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness in Canada. This Report is also available on our company website at www.priestly.ca.
